

Communicating and Educating with Authentic Intelligence

VIRTUAL

FEBRUARY 11, 2026

9:00 am - 12:00 pm

Interactive Instruction

12:00 pm - 12:45 pm

Break for Lunch

12:45 pm - 2:00 pm

Interactive Instruction

2:00 pm - 3:00 pm

Guided Integration and
Q&A

ANITA FOORE
Facilitator

We live and educate in a world filled with artificial intelligence. Authentic intelligence might be more important than ever.

What's authentic intelligence? It's the real stuff that is part of real people - how we interact with problems, people, pace of our environment, and procedures. And when we know the "real stuff" about ourselves and the people we work with, we can build better relationships that yield stronger results in our work.

In this session, you'll get to

Analyze your individual tendencies related to approaching problems, people, pace, and procedures through a personalized and validated DISC assessment report.

Assess your internal and authentic motivators that drive your decision-making processes through a personalized and validated Motivators assessment report.

Apply your authentic intelligence skills to analyze others' communication and behaviors for more effective partnerships.

Develop action plans that inform the most effective approaches to supporting educators in professional learning.

DEVELOPMENT412
LLC

Registration is open through January 30th.
Assessment links will be emailed within one week of your registration and must be completed by February 4th.